GREENVILLE, S. C.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1878.
For President,
HORACE GREELEY,
OF NEW YORK.
For Vice-President,
B. GRATZ BROWN,
OF MISSOURI.

Other engagements have prevented our giving much attention to the paper this week.

The October Elections.

The August Constitutionality of the 14th instant, thus speaks of the recent elections: "The indications are unmistakable that the country is to be carried with four more years of corrupt Radical rule. The elections in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana have gone for the Administration candidates, which is tantamount to a declaration that these States desire the continuance of Grant in office, with all its gross corruptions, frauds and stealings at the North, and all its mismanagement, hate and high-handed oppressions at the South. From the superfluous wealth of the prosperous North there will be unlimited plundering. From the broken-down, impoverished South there will be small gleanings of money, but a satiation of vengeance on her poor and proud people, who scorn to bow the knee to military power and the spirit of imperialism."

The same paper also adds: "The results in the States of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana are sufficiently ascertained to show that Grant's star is still in the ascendant. That he may be defeated next month is certainly among the possibilities, for the chances seem good for Greeley to get Indiana, and if he does, the loss of Pennsylvania and Ohio will not necessarily prove fatal to his hopes of the Presidency. The Administration has many advantages in the fact of being in possession of the Government, with its patronage, its offices, its handling of public money, its power to levy assessments on salaries, and to employ men on public works. These are only a part of the means and appliances at its command. Colonization, re-planting, ballot box stuffing, are among the additional resources, and the party in power has always the advantage of 'the out' in these artful contrivances, even when both sides are equally willing to use fraud or force."

The Elections on the 8th Inst.

The recent elections in Ohio and Pennsylvania were carried for Grant, and that in Indiana for the Liberal Republicans, the latter being a doubtful victory.

The Election in the City.—There were cast at the Court House Box, eleven hundred and fifty votes, but of course no idea could be formed as to the result. It will be 12 o'clock Thursday before the result will be declared.

Election Week.—The candidates for the various offices were very active in the County during the entire week; in consequence, the City appeared unusually dull, until Tuesday before the election, when there was more stir on the streets.

Election Day in the City passed off very quietly and without a single disturbance.

Mr. C. F. JACKSON.—Don't fail to call and see C. F. JACKSON'S Stock of Fancy and Staple Dry Goods when you visit Columbia, for if you call, you will be sure to purchase, as his prices are so very low.

TEMPERANCE ORDER.—On Tuesday night last, Rev. LANDY WOOD delivered a Temperance address in the Court House, at which there was a large attendance of citizens.

After the address was concluded, an organization of some thirty-odd persons was effected. The new society meets again on Tuesday night next, in the new Court House. Those wishing to join are cordially invited.

The McFee Lands.—As all of the lands advertised for sale by the Executors of the Estate of VANDY McFEE, deceased, were not sold last sales day, the sale will be continued on the first Monday in November. Much of that to be disposed of, is located in and around the City of Greenville.

The Weather.—For several weeks we have had charming weather. On Tuesday morning last, 15th inst., there was frost and ice. An old resident says that ice has been earlier this year than for many years past. Our farmers are having a splendid time for picking out their cotton.

Good Price for Cotton.—The New York quotation is among the nineteenth, and we hope it will not stop there. No doubt a great deal will be brought to market in consequence of these high figures. During the past, at lower rates, there were sold in the Greenville market over four hundred bales. This is a very respectable number.

Paul B. Lalane & Co., Charleston.—Splendid Fish.—We have received from those energetic and progressive wholesale grocers and commission merchants of Charleston, Messrs. PAUL B. LALANE & Co., specimens of what they deal in, in the shape of several boxes of American Club Fish. These Fish are very palatable—being much finer than Sardines.

We return thanks for the same, and would advise our dealers here to try their sale upon this market.

REPORT OF THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.—In this issue will be found the Annual Report of the County Commissioners of Greenville, for the past year, which will be found of interest.

GREENVILLE GAINING ATTENTION.—We last week mentioned the names of several new comers, and we have no doubt there will be many more at an early date. A gentleman at Chester writes to us inquiring concerning the renting of a store-room in our City, intending to come to Greenville and open business, in January next. Good store-rooms here are very scarce, and we only wish there were more, and we now know of no place that could be procured. Parties having residences or stores to rent would serve the public by advertising the fact in the Enterprise. We think the gentleman at Chester who contemplates locating here, should give our City a visit, when he can better gain the knowledge he desires; besides, our people are hospitable, and a visit to the "Mountain City" will repay him in pleasure.

Mr. WINTOCK.—We have had the pleasure of hurriedly examining the new goods of the above gentlemen, on Buncombe Street, near Main, and can assure those who wish to make purchases in dry goods or groceries, that they are better than ever prepared to please all who patronize them. The junior member of the firm, Mr. WINTOCK, has just returned from New York, where he has given personal supervision in the selection of goods. See advertisement elsewhere.

WINTOCK.—Mr. WINTOCK has been too busy for the past few days in opening new goods, to get up an advertisement of his store; but he requests us to say to his friends and the public generally that his stocks of ready made clothing, hats, boots, shoes, home goods, etc., etc., and groceries are larger than ever; and that they must call and look at them. He guarantees satisfaction, and was hoping his store will be crowded with customers. Advertisement next week.

OFFICE PUBLIC WRITERS, GREENVILLE, S. C., October 14th, 1878. No. of Bales of Cotton weighed and marked the past week, one hundred and forty-two (142). A. W. McDAVID.

OFFICE PUBLIC WRITERS, GREENVILLE, S. C., Oct. 15th, 1878. No. Bales Cotton weighed and marked for the week ending Oct. 14th, two hundred and sixty-three (263) bales. M. S. SCRUGGS.

WALKER, EVANS & COGSWELL, CHARLESTON. We have received a postal card from the above firm of high standing and character in Charleston.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 4th, 1878. Tour Patron: The damage done to our machinery and stock by the fire of September 8th, has now been fully repaired. We are ready to execute all orders entrusted to us, and when so favored, will endeavor by excellence, promptness and low prices, to give entire satisfaction, and merit continued patronage.

Very respectfully,
WALKER, EVANS & COGSWELL.

POCKET DICTIONARY.—Webster's Pocket Dictionary, in its present shape, is a great improvement over its previous editions and all similar works. In the first place it is neatly printed, and bound in morocco, with gilt edges. Then it contains 200 pictorial illustrations, which give a much clearer idea of the meaning of many words than could possibly be conveyed by the usual definition. The little volume, which being no larger than an ordinary pocket-book, embraces in its vocabulary a careful selection of over 18,000 of the most important words of the language, with definitions sufficiently clear, though necessarily brief, to meet the ordinary wants of any one requiring its use. Prefixed to the work are tables of money, weight and measure, abbreviations, words and phrases from foreign languages, rules for spelling, explanations, etc. It is in fact a most valuable little book, and is doubly worth the dollar it costs. It is very beautifully and substantially bound, with turks and gilt edges. The Publishers, Trivon, Blakeman, Taylor & Co., 138 and 140 Grand Street, New York, will forward it by mail on receipt of One Dollar, or it can be bought almost anywhere.

A SHOW WORTH SEEING.—We are in receipt of a letter from the oldest and most popular of the equestrian, gymnastic and zoological managers in America, Mr. John Robinson, in which we are advised that his Colossal Combination entertainment, of Menagerie, Museum, Aquarium and Circus, is on its way hither, and will shortly be with us.

Mr. Robinson's has always been the favorite and standard Show of the South, and all others have sunk into utter insignificance in comparison.

It is not our province to enumerate the thousands-and-ones attractions, for the attractions, for the advertisements and the bills of the day, which will shortly be displayed, and spread broadcast through the country by the millions, will exonerate us from that task. But we will allude, en passant, to his collection of living Red Sea Lions from the Alaskan seas, his half a score of Arctic Seals, his great Sumatran Rhinoceros, his gigantic Ostriches, his stupendous Giraffe, (a recent importation), and his vast array of dens and cages, filled to repletion with living specimens of the rare and curious of earth, sea and air. The champion athletes and gymnasts of the Universe Messrs. Kelly and Stiekney, by their extraordinary skill and daring, add to the attractions of the entertainment; and the "Di Vernon" of the arena, M'illie Armour, lends the witching of her beauty and fearless equestrianism.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY IN SAVANNAH.—A special to the Charleston News gives the details of a bloody tragedy that took place in Savannah yesterday afternoon. Between ten and eleven o'clock, Alexander Dillon, son of David R. Dillon, banker, entered his father's office pale and apparently laboring under great mental excitement, and went into the back room of the office, where his father transacts his private business. On seeing him the father began to reprimand him in a very severe and harsh manner. The young man swore that he would not put up with the language his father had used on a previous occasion, and in the excitement of the moment, drew a pistol and fired three times at his father—all three balls taking effect, one in the right arm, another in the head and the third in the thigh. After committing this act he shot himself in the breast. He was then taken into the adjoining room, occupied by Mr. Phillips, who seated him in a chair, where he expired in about twenty minutes. The wounds inflicted on the father are not of a dangerous character; but there is no doubt the son thought he had killed his father, and concluded to end his own life.

We learn from the Newberry Herald, of the 23d inst., that continued dry weather is telling seriously against the late planting, and much cotton will be lost. In some sections the fields are almost dried up. The worm, too, is depredating to a considerable extent. There are fields on the roads leading from town, as well as others here and there in the country, which are almost stripped of leaves.

Gen. Moses, in a published card, denies the statement of the Beaufort Times, that in 1865 he sought the appointment of judge of one of the courts created by the Legislature, because he was desirous of enforcing the Black Code.

Want the Press Think of Tuesday's Elections.

The Republican and Independent press are of accord in holding that the result of the Tuesday's elections is conclusive as to the Presidential contest, and the Democratic press virtually concedes the same. The Baltimore Gazette says, rather dolefully: "Where power is strongly entrenched, it takes more than one conflict to dislodge it, and the failure of an attack on one part of the works may yet be the precursor of better fortune in a general assault."

The Sun suggests that "possibly the contestants have not been equally matched in those appliances of party warfare which address themselves to the passions and personal interests of voters."

The New York Herald declares without hesitation that it is "a victory that settles the Presidential contest, and proves beyond doubt that the attempt to hand over the Federal Government to a new party composed of Democrats and dissatisfied Republicans has proved a complete failure."

The Tribune alone undertakes to rally its shattered columns, and to figure out how, even conceding Ohio and Pennsylvania to the Republicans, Greeley can be elected. "Friends," says the Tribune, "in spite of fraud we are on the home stretch, with every prospect of success."

The Times thinks the Democrats "will begin to realize the folly of their bargain with Horace Greeley," and that they would have had a better chance of success, and stood much more favorably before the people had they nominated a good man from their own party.

The New York Post draws three lessons from the elections. 1st. The utter nullity of the system of misrepresentation and fraud which the opposition has so extensively adopted. 2d. That the shameful bargain, begun at Cincinnati and completed at Baltimore, where in the party of Reform was betrayed and demoralized, and the Democratic party abandoned, has not been accepted by the masses of the voters. 3d. That the majorities for Grant, in the States which have thus voted, will be in November as large again as they are now for the local candidates.

The Philadelphia Press denounces that "it would be folly to allege that the great majority for Harlan is the offspring of fraud," and says: "We believe it to be a legitimate majority—the growth of several causes that lie so plainly on the surface of the contest that all may understand and study. General Grant pulled this ticket through. In an ordinary contest it would have been beaten out of sight; but his name, and the fact that its defeat would damage him in November, rallied to it thousands who closed their eyes to the proofs we daily spread before them, and constrained many to certify to the deservings of candidates of questionable record."

The Inquirer draws the moral that "the business interests of the country incline to the belief that it is wise to 'let well enough alone.'"

The Philadelphia American attributes the "extraordinary vote" in that State to the alarm caused to the Republican voters by the boasts and strenuous exertions of the Greeleys.

The Cincinnati Commercial concedes that the returns from the State of Ohio at large show that the Liberal movement has not shown solid strength outside the large towns," and adds that, "taking yesterday's elections altogether, the conclusion is forced that the luck of General Grant, in politics as in war, is likely to be confirmed by his re-election to the Presidency. The Liberal and Democratic organization is not so compact that it can withstand the shock of repeated defeat."

The Springfield Republican, however, puts on a Spartan face and declares that, "On the whole, it would seem as if October would not altogether anticipate the work of November, and that Pennsylvania, Indiana and Ohio have not taken the job of electing a President out of the hands of the nation."

Diabolism in Raleigh—The Sentinel Office Blown to Atoms.

The city of Raleigh was alarmed about one o'clock this morning by a terrible explosion, which shook nearly every building in the city.

Soon the alarm of fire was given, and it was soon ascertained that the noise proceeded from the office of the Raleigh Sentinel. The firemen were promptly on the spot, as the Sentinel office adjoined the engine house. Upon examination, the Sentinel press room was found to be in ruins, the roof of the house being blown to pieces and scattered in every direction. The press which printed the Sentinel was completely demolished, the type in the composing room adjoining, all knocked down and piled, and everything in the greatest confusion and disorder. A large crowd of citizens soon gathered around the dismantled building and the impression was universal that some fiend in human form had blown up the Sentinel press by placing powder underneath.

The opinion was fully confirmed by a subsequent examination of the ruins. A small job press in the composing room, which escaped destruction, was examined and a paper of powder found under it with a slow match, which had been lighted, but had gone out.

This was proof conclusive that the outrage was planned by some enemy or enemies of the editor of the Sentinel.

It is said that about ten minutes before the explosion, a colored boy, who lives near the office, saw two individuals running off from the spot in the direction of the depot, with hat in hand.

We learn that the office and press were partly insured, but we do not know to what extent. The press cost some $2,500. This diabolical and hellish outrage has excited great indignation, and the vile wretch who conceived and carried it into execution, deserves the severest penalty that the law can inflict.

Such an act of fiendishness is too infamous to be properly characterized and denounced.

Whether from personal or political malice, if the heartless villain thinks he can muzzle the Sentinel, or silence the voice of a free, independent press, he will certainly find himself vastly mistaken. The Sentinel cannot be suppressed by such means. The loss of the press will no doubt be replaced in a few days by a new one.

NEW YORK, October 9.

A LETTER FROM CHAS. O'CONNOR.—The Herald's Richmond correspondent says Charles O'CONNOR, in reply to a letter addressed to him by Jas. Lyons, President of the Louisville Convention, enquiring whether he would give the assurance that he would serve if elected, and if it was true that he said Greeley was a man of transcendent ability, wrote the following letter:

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.

My Dear Sir: If I have said or written anything differing in the slightest degree from what is contained in my two published communications, one to the Louisville Convention, and one to the Committee, I possess no power of language which would enable me to speak more plainly on the subjects therein treated of. It may be true, as you suggest, that the people will vote for any man who will not announce in a public manner that if elected, he will not serve them; if so, they will never vote for me. I should regard such an announcement as one mode of soliciting their support. If the Southern people did not know, before I said anything on the subject, that one of the candidates is a man of transcendent ability, they are singularly slow of apprehension. The desolation of which they complain is attributable to him, and the long and disastrous war that filled his "bloody chasm" with fratricidal slaughter, and "involved" the whole country in debt and demoralization, is due to the "unequalled energy" combined with the folly of this one exceedingly mischievous man. I regard the possibility of his election with the heaviest anxiety. I would cheerfully surrender my position, and sacrifice life on the altar of that duty whose controlling events might be prophesied and indeed to save my country from impending evil. I do not write this letter for publication. With unchanged and unchangeable friendship, respect and esteem, I remain, my dear sir, yours, truly,

CHAS. O'CONNOR.

Gov. SCOTT'S LITEL SUIT.—Gov. Scott has received a letter from his agent, Judge Tom Mackey, who was sent to New York to commence legal proceedings against the New York Tribune, for its alleged libel in publishing a statement made to one of its reporters by M. R. Delany. The letter states that the declaration in the case was filed on Tuesday, the 8th instant, in the United States Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York, Mr. Henry Clews, the banker, signing the bond for the costs, and that the case would probably come up for trial about the second Monday in December. The declaration was expected to be published in the New York Times of the 9th instant.

President Grant has recommended Thursday, the 28th of November next, as a day of Thanksgiving.

Georgia Politics.

The "Straight-out" in Georgia have put a stake in the field, and it receives the warm support of Mr. Alex. H. Stevens.—The Augusta Constitutionalist, in opposition to this movement, says:

The policy of every Georgian, whether Democrat or Republican, is the same now as it was a week ago. The October elections in the North do not change the aspect of that policy. Those elections show that the Reform movement has gained. It has carried one State (Indiana) and has outdone the Administration majorities in two others, Pennsylvania and Ohio. The prospect is that the South will cross the Potomac next month with an almost unbroken column of voters for Greeley and Brown.—The State of South Carolina will form the only unhappy exception to the harmonious acclaim by which the Southern people will raise its voice in favor of the Reform ticket. The voice of Georgia has inspired hope and infused courage into the hearts of the patriotic men of our section. The prospect of that powerful support will give renewed energy to our friends in the north.

A dispassionate view of the situation will show Greeley's chances to be the best, on a fair vote. The fact that the elections take place on the same day diminishes the chances for fraud. Through the election of Mr. Greeley the rights of local self-government can be preserved, and the military be made subordinate to civil authority.—The vote Georgia gives for him will declare her adhesion to her heroic State rights record. Every vote given for the O'Connor and Adams ticket will count as many evidences that there are theorists among us who, in their zeal for abstract ideas are blind to the real dangers that beset us.

THE Memphis (Tennessee) Avalanche gives some account of a singular phenomenon now witnessed at the site of Old Fort Pillow, on the Mississippi, where the bluff bank of the river rising fifty or sixty feet above the water, is on fire, and for several weeks past has been burning "like a volcano" for a distance of several hundred yards. Very naturally the people living in the neighborhood are puzzled to know how to account for the phenomenon, and are not a little frightened by the "lurid flames" which rise from the side of the bluff to a height of several feet.

THE New York World publishes a sensational story about the manufacture of diamonds at a foundry in Brooklyn by a combination of various chemists. The author of the story says fifteen hundred pounds of diamonds were made, and half of them have been sold for $24,000,000.

MARRIED, on the 6th inst., by Rev. S. M. Green, Capt. T. E. WADDLE and Miss ELIZABETH JANE COOK, all of Greenville County.

Building Interests.—We again call the attention of our many readers to the advertisement, in another column, of builders' materials and supplies. To those in want of any article in this line, we say send for circulars and price lists from the great Southern factory of these goods, and extensive salesrooms of builders' hardware, marble mantelpieces, French and American window glass, &c. &c. BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 18, 1870. Dr. R. V. Pierce: For the past six months I have used your Golden Medical Discovery as a preventive, and in that time I have tested its merits in several cases, both acute and chronic, in chronic diseases of the throat, severe cases of bronchitis, general derangement of the system, constipation, condition of the bowels and wherever a cold, catarrh, or blood purifier, has been indicated. In all cases I have found it to act gently, yet thoroughly and effectually in removing the various diseased conditions, and bringing about a healthy action throughout the system.

Yours faithfully,
H. L. HALL, M. D.

This medicine is sold by all respectable druggists in all parts of America.

Scurfula.—It is the dread disease which annually sweeps its thousands to the grave. It makes its appearance in many forms; in Consumption, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Cutaneous diseases, many of the affections with which females are troubled, &c. &c. Perhaps no one is wholly free from its taint. The only way it can be successfully treated is through the medium of the circulation. It is a blood disease. Dr. Tuttle's Sarsaparilla and Queen's Delight possesses the quality to expel it from the system and restore perfect health. Being free from violent minerals, it may be taken with safety by old and young. The most delicate female may take it at any time.

If your child has worms, or bad breath, or swollen complexion, or restlessness at night, or no appetite, or general bad health, give it Dr. Tuttle's Liver Pills. It will soon be restored.
